

Who we are

The site www.wearereporters.it favors the development of an:

Information community

It offers everybody the chance:

- to get a view of all the major Italian and foreign media
- to access all the contents of the site: they present a free of political conditioning and economic and/or financial interests
- to publish contents (news, opinions, articles, studies, interviews, witnesses, cases) and these contents will offer services, denunciations, knowledge, stimulus to the growth of the country will never be common, but will enlighten the facts
- to underline when necessary, the manipulation that the information often suffer
- more: to organise events, launch opinion campaigns, open forums, launch polls, pose questions to politicians, attach documents, post links to other sites and bibliographical references, suggest new contents, propose improvements

Two are the principles that found the site:

- The "news" belongs to everybody (not just to official reporters) and so everybody must contribute to its birth and control. This is the reason of the WeAreReporters
- The site belongs to people who participate to enrich it with contents and/or to support it either economically with their work. Everybody will get a "participation" and their quote will be measured on the base of their involvement.

In this way everybody will act at the same time as:

Reporter, editor and guarantor

"WeAreReporters" is the place where people meet, share information, discuss openly

It is the answer to the need of information quality: we are aware that the public information is influenced by the political-economic-financial lobbies and the best cure for this is the transparency. In other terms the site offers a right of the country closer to the citizens and it favors the aggregation of people and their growth.

We hope users will cooperate to its success according to their time availability and knowledge.

The idea has aggregated a number of people with different ideas, beliefs, inspirations, all convinced that only by breaking barriers and unifying the forces of everybody will be possible to improve the society, in the hope that other citizens will join in this adventure.

It's a big bet since the founders of the site have no "occult protection"; they users will contribute through their means to guarantee its continuity. Donations will be published on-line.

The users will be able to rectify or deny directly what they think is contrary to their own rights.

A guarantee group formed by people of different beliefs will assure that everybody who wants to post contents completely free (contact the guarantee group)

A coordination group will accept requests from the users and will try to execute them \(as far as possible coordination group\)

The users will be invited to point out their delegates inside these groups
